If you are in the market for a used BMW X5 then don't be convinced that a franchised dealer is the best place to go. If you look on the forums for used BMW X5 reviews, there are plenty of satisfied car buyers who have found themselves cheap second hand car at independent retailers, such as Big Motoring World in Kent. They may not have the plush showroom and villeroy and boch china cups and saucers but they do have competitive prices, a huge amount of choice and can arrange your car finance and drive away insurance. These guys should be on your test drive list of car dealers before you leave that deposit.
